We are more than a suit. We are a global force for change.

As gender inequality continues to impact the lives of women worldwide, Dress for Success® helps women across the globe make crucial inroads to financial independence and upward mobility.

Our work has tangible outcomes for the women that participate in our signature programs, with 76 percent securing employment, 23 percent receiving promotions within one year, and 80 percent reducing debt or building an emergency savings fund.
Our Mission

Our mission is to empower women to achieve economic independence by providing a network of support, professional attire and the development tools to help women thrive in work and in life.

Our Reach

From Atlanta, Georgia; to Lisbon, Portugal; to Lagos, Nigeria; to Auckland, New Zealand, our affiliate network is the heart and soul of our organization. Our leaders work tirelessly to help women around the world level the gender equality scale.

In 2018, we expanded our presence in six new locations – Greater Baltimore, Maryland; Kelowna, British Columbia; Michiana, Michigan; Nairobi, Kenya; Permian Basin, Texas; and Providence, Rhode Island. Additionally, existing locations within our network expanded their program offerings, strengthening their community impact.

Programs

Dress for Success understands the importance of listening to the women we serve and learning first-hand the challenges they face. Whether they are job seekers, employed professionals or ready to be leaders in their community, we design and deliver services, programs and a network of support to help women overcome these challenges for every phase of their personal or professional journey.

Our programs are outcomes-driven, leveraging best practices and first-in-class partnerships to ensure that participation is contributing to measurable milestones on a woman’s journey to financial independence and upward mobility — milestones like getting hired, getting promoted, getting a raise and increasing financial literacy.

For the Job Seekers

Whether kick-starting their job search for the first time or looking to relaunch their careers, Dress for Success empowers job seekers with everything they need to succeed while job searching or in the first few weeks of employment — from suiting, to job search support, to interview preparation, to career coaching.

For the Professionals

Whether they’re facing barriers to progress, ready to upskill or working to gain the agency and knowledge they need to realize their full potential and feel financially empowered, Dress for Success provides programs and experiences to inspire women already on a career trajectory, including customized workshops and financial education.

For the Leaders

Empowered women are not just interested in their own success, but in strengthening their families and shaping their communities as well. Dress for Success supports women ready to enter into leadership positions where they live, learn and work by offering programs centered on leadership training and giving back through community engagement and volunteerism.
Meet Jennifer

Jennifer’s resilience, tenacity and unwavering appreciation for life is fueled by her experience overcoming homelessness, abuse, depression and attempted suicide at the tender age of 19. Having realized that the traumas of her past didn’t have to dictate the brighter future she desired, Jennifer sought the help of a therapist who would later introduce her to Dress for Success. She joined the Going Places Network and participated in several programs focused on workforce development and financial literacy.

Nine years later, Jennifer remains an active Dress for Success member, participating in the Lead-HER-ship program where she receives leadership training from executives at Carnival Cruise Line, Holland America Line and Princess Cruises. The training and support Jennifer received gave her the confidence she needed to actualize our mission by launching her own natural skincare and beauty product line, J’enessence.

Meet Hind

Hind’s aspiration in action journey began when she found herself divorced, raising a son alone, unemployed, lacking an advanced education degree, and caring for a terminally ill relative. She was introduced to Dress for Success where she began to reconnect with, care for and believe in herself. With the help of the Going Places Network, Hind felt armed with practical tools and support to gain the skills and confidence she needed to plan her future.

She currently serves as a family and children’s case manager, where she confidently leverages the skills she acquired along her Dress for Success journey to help other women in need.

“When I joined Dress for Success, the first thing I realized is that I don’t have to go through this alone.”

“I learned from being mentored by the staff at Dress for Success that I have a strong voice and that my past experience is a light to help others ... and that it’s okay to fall down, but not stay there.”
Corporate Sponsors

Dress for Success would not have been able to serve more than 75,000 women worldwide without the generosity of our corporate partners. In 2018, we deepened our relationship with long-time partners such as Benefit Cosmetics, Capital One, FedEx, Robert Half, Talbots, The Coca Cola Company Foundation, Ulta Beauty and Vanity Fair Lingerie. We also established new relationships with companies seeking to enhance volunteerism opportunities for their employees globally such as JPMorgan Chase & Co. as well as those looking for unique partnership opportunities such as Clear Eyes.

Thank You to Our Long-Time Corporate Sponsors

Workday
Our signature fundraising events play a pivotal role in advancing our mission to empower women to become economically independent. Through the generosity of our supporters and corporate sponsors, we are able to enhance and expand our programs and services. Here’s a look back at highlights from a few of our 2018 events.
Campaigns

2018 also marked the launch of key milestones for Dress for Success, including our first global and most creative campaigns to-date.

International Women’s Day:
Your Hour, Her Power

Our campaign was designed to highlight and address the pervasiveness of the gender pay gap. We called on individuals to help give women access to services that help them achieve financial independence and upward mobility in the workplace by donating an hour of their pay.

Giving Tuesday:
#DFSPowerPiece

This campaign celebrated the pivotal moment when a woman new to Dress for Success rediscovers her confidence and strength. #DFSPowerPiece included a curated collection of items from fashion and beauty brands that make women feel confident and successful. Fashion designer and guest stylist Michael Costello generously donated his time to pair pieces from the collection on Dress for Success clients. Consumers supported the campaign by shopping the collection or making a donation to their local affiliate.
